

Customer Identification Disclaimer

Federal law requires financial institutions to obtain, verify, and record information that identifies each person who opens an account. When opening a client account, SSN will ask for the name, address, date of birth and other information that will allow SSN to identify each account holder. SSN may also ask to see driver's licenses or other Government issued identification documents. SSN may share information obtained from me with third parties to verify my identity, in compliance with this federal law.
